

NUREMBERG TRIALS LL.M. FELLOWSHIP

Chapman University Fowler School of Law

Orange County, California

Applications Due: June 19, 2015

To commemorate the 70th Anniversary of the Nuremberg Trials, the Fowler School of Law of Chapman University, located in beautiful Southern California, is offering a full tuition-free LL.M. scholarship at Chapman University for one lawyer or law student with a degree from a law school in the European Theater of WWII.

The successful recipient will pursue study and research on the legacy of the Nuremberg Trials in the development of international criminal law. The Fellow will take specified courses from the Chapman curriculum, and also will be able to take advantage of the University's Rodgers Center for Holocaust Education and Samueli Holocaust Memorial Library, as well as other Southern California collections and resources.

Applicants must have completed a primary law degree (LL.B. or J.D.) or otherwise be eligible to practice law. Completion of the LL.M. degree usually takes 9 to 12 months, and some credit may be granted for graduate courses taken at the applicant's home university. Info at www.chapman.edu/llm

The LL.M. Fellowship consists of:

- Full tuition grant for enrollment in the Chapman LL.M. program
- $10,000 stipend in honor of Nuremberg Prosecutor Ben Ferencz
- Work directly with a faculty mentor from the Fowler School of Law
- Opportunities to present work in progress at the law school and other venues
- Eligibility for stipends for assisting with research
- Eligibility for grants for travel to present academic research
- Possibility of serving as a teaching assistant in a J.D. or undergraduate course

For more information, contact: llm@chapman.edu